

The Ben Singer Band

Led by phenomenal drummer and musician from Philadelphia PA, Ben has a deep love for emotional and feel based music. While spending time working on the scene, Ben noticed there was an opportunity to push the drums towards a leadership position within a modern fusion context, harkening to the relentless drive of bands led by greats such as Chick Webb, Buddy Rich and Tony Williams.

ABOUT

THE MUSIC

The Ben Singer Band pulls from the rich history of american Jazz and placing it in an acessable and grooving context.

“I Find music to be story telling based off of feelings. I don’t beleive in genres per se, the music is deeper.”

Shows feature an expressive approach to familiar tunes. Arrangements focusing on energy, group interaction and communication... all filtered through the drummers perspective.

“Rhythmic layering is one of the most important aspects of the band” Musicians completely own there part and are free to express their authenticity. This allows everyone in the band to stand apart yet together, ultimately creating a rhythmic freight train.
